We do this by training health promoters and traditional midwives and providing financial support to small organizations and community groups in rural areas. Trainings include workshops in pediatric medicine, emergency care, and reproductive health. Many of the areas where we work lack access to any other type of health or financial resources. An underlying goal of all our program work is to build self-sufficiency among local health care staff and members of the communities themselves.

The Organization has one employee in the region who is a US citizen and is paid through the Organization's US based payroll.
